Ambassador will be working closely with the IMO (International Maritime Organization), other international bodies and destination stakeholders and will strictly follow UK Government Task Force and international guidelines to maintain the highest standards. Ambassador's comprehensive health and safety protocols encompass the full journey for guests, covering the shipboard and shoreside experience. Ambassador Cruise Line will continue to monitor and evaluate the situation and will post any updates on its website as further public health standards evolve.

Cruise operations do not start until April 2022 and at present the plan is for all guests to adhere to the following:

Pre-sailing health questionnaire: Guests will be asked to complete a standard pre-sailing health questionnaire to identify any medical issues in advance of sailing.

COVID-19 Vaccination Policy: It will be a requirement for all guests to be fully vaccinated against COVID-19 at least 14 days prior to sailing, subject to any exemptions*. Guests will also be subject to a COVID-19 test 72 hours prior to sailing date. The situation will be under constant review with updates posted on Ambassador's website. Testing before you cruise: Ambassador will require guests to have compulsory testing before they sail if this is still a requirement in April 2022.

Temperature testing onboard: Facilities will be available around the ship and onboard temperature testing will be under review. Ambassador will install temperature check systems in key areas onboard the ship such as the embarkation area and outside restaurants.

Face masks, social-distancing, and hand sanitation: Ambience is very spacious and therefore provides sufficient space for social distancing. If face masks are still recommended in communal areas, Ambassador will adhere to this policy. Ambassador will install additional hand sanitising stations onboard the ship and at the cruise terminal. The situation will be under constant review.
